EXPANSION PACK FOR THE HARMONIC TRANSLATION SYSTEM

The Expansion Pack for the Harmonic Translation System represents many years of work and research in the field of electronic medicine. As with all H T information, this new information is experimental and must be used with caution.

Elements of expansion Pack 1.

Analysis:

14 new meridian based analysis programs for those who wish to use the modality of Oriental medicine.

New anatomy charts and images:

Veterinary anatomical charts and images for domestic cats, dogs, and horses.

Complete charts of all acupuncture meridians and points.

Cellular anatomy charts and images.

A comprehensive reordering and renaming of all H T anatomy images and charts to make them easy to find and use.

All 64 I Ching Hexagrams. You can treat via the whole hexagram or emphasize a single trigram or line within a hexagram.

A collection of humanity's most precious and powerful gemstones.

Micrograms: This is something completely new in the realm of information used as medicine. Through a new technique of enhanced color and contrast, the chemical and quantum structure of medicinal substances is visually revealed.

Example of microgram of acetaminophen

When one of these micrograms is used in an H T treatment, an effect similar to using the physical substance is achieved. This allows a more overt effect to be combined with subtle healing information in a single safe remedy. The Expansion Pack contains over 250 of these micrograms. The categories of micrograms include amino acids, vitamins, drugs and gems.

Additions to the electronic dispensary:

Hundreds of new medicinal substances and energies have been scanned into the H T dispensary to give you many thousands of new treatment options, combinations and possibilities.

A new set of over 130 western herbs organized into 18 categories of use. This arrangement of the dispensary makes the most of your abilities to test the medicines themselves or scan them by their known properties.

For the first time acupuncture points themselves can be used as medicinal items in H T treatments. All points on all meridians including the Governing and Conception meridians are included in the dispensary additions.

Precomposed treatments:

Precomposed treatment sessions are now organized into 21 categories of use to better facilitate this basic H T function.

In the category of Chinese treatments there are over 60 new precomposed treatments that make good use of the new oriental medical information. These represent many of the most classic treatment prescriptions used in oriental medicine.
